

CSW DAILY BRIEFING 2020.09.26

COUNTDOWN: SIX DAYS TO OPEN!

DISASTER AREA, COME TO STAY AT YOUR OWN RISK OF INCONVENIENCE:

Please remember that we are recovering from a disaster and have only one elevator in need of modernization that just took a hurricane deluge. There is likely still machinery drying out your unit. Fogging will follow, as well as, in certain cases, some floor & wall work. Details coming tomorrow!

SATURDAY SLOWDOWN:

Our hard-working Hondurans are taking a much needed weekend break.

Aaron and Tracey were in half a day today and will be back half a day tomorrow. Your Property Manager will be on site during business hours both days.

Monday we get back to it, mucking out the pool, stowing lumber, removing hazards from the beach, cleaning elevator doors, unit doors & windows, and other general clean up.

Our goal this week is to clean out the swimming pool and have it ready for the reopening this coming Friday, October 2nd.

Here's how things looked in September of 2008. The dune structure was different, and we had far fewer sea oats. The original stand was several yards away from the building and buttressed with sand fences. We started fertilizing it at this time, strung some sprinkler hoses, and soon had the lushest stand of sea oats on the island. Give us a little time, and we will have that once again!

So I fell in the pool after I drained it...

...but I landed on my feet. You can see the splash on the sides!
My joints will just have to understand that I'm not 25 anymore. 39 is getting harder each year!

And believe me, this smells as bad as it looks! But we expect it to be Crystal clear by Friday!

More news tomorrow. ServePro should provide me with the unit by unit plan for the week.
